

Message from Riadh Fehri: “Let us Open Space for Communication”

Riadh Fehri

Summary

In gratitude the author thanks those who have contributed to the modernization of society and the music industry which has greatly affected the artist's ability to continue his work and undertake multiple projects. As a musical artist Fehri discusses the art of instrumental fusion music and how this art form enables the listener or receiver to form a personal connection to the work. The artist in his role projects the values of tolerance and acceptance of the other and hopes to create that image and feeling in the mind of the receiver of the work. The author views music as a grand communicator. He noted that the listener does not change his cultural perspective by listening to the music the artist creates but that the receiver is able to find commonality through the music with others who have different backgrounds.
